CHANGE SPOILED THE EFFECT.

Minister's Unfortunate Alteration of Biblical Phraseology.

William Dean Howells, at one of his sunday afternoon receptions, was talking about the slight change of phrase that may suffice to make an impressive thing ridiculous.

"I ramember a sermon that I heard," he said, "in my boyhood, in Martin's Ferry, the quaint Ohio town. It was a sermon about Judas, and the minister, after reading to us how Judas betrayed the Master for thirty pieces of silver, added, 'Thirty pieces of silver, dear friends, is $18 in our money.' And then he went on heat-

"Yes, Judas betrayed the Master; he prostituted that holy symbol, the kiss, for the small sum of $18."

"The change of phrase was slight," Mr. Howells concluded, "but somehow it sufficed to make everybody smile."

It was found that the one painted blue attracted 108 insects, next came brown and dark red, but these attracted only two each. Yellow falled to secure a single mosquito visitor. As a consequence, blue shirts will no longer be issued to troops in mosquito-infested regions. Traverers are recommend to wear some khakl-colored material when journeying in the trop-

SAYS APOSTLE BRIGHAM YOUNG DEAD. Apostles of the Mormon Church-

Apostle Brigham Young, president of the quorum of twelve, son of the famous leader of the Mormon church and next in line of succession to Proident Joseph F. Smith for that F tion, died at his home in Sait Lake City at 10:40 p. m. Saturday, Death which ensued after an Illness of over a year's duration, was due primarily to circhosis of the liver. This led to dropsy, and his condition was made still worse by a recent attack of bron-

Brigham Young, a member of the council of twelve apostles since 1808, and president of that body since the death of Franklin D. Richards, was the son of President Brigham Young and Mary Ann Angell. He was born December 18, 1836, at Kirtland, O. Ha father, in 1833, was a widower with two little girls, and he married Mary Ann Angel as a result of a fast meeting in Kirtland, during which it was revealed to the elder Brigham that she was designed for him. Brigham, Jr., was the third child of this marriage, and he was born amid all the untoward circumstances of the early days in the church. He was a twin, but his twin sister, Mary, died at the age of 7.

Apostle Young's eldest recollection was a scene of the painful movings and mobbings of his people in the Mislly moved to Montrose, which was He underwent, as a small boy, the suffering accompanying the removal of a laxative is needed, without any the Saints to Winter Quarters, and the sixteen months later he yielded obedi-ence to the principle of plural marriage by marrying Jane Carrington. His early days in the valley were fraught with many hardships, he having served as a scout during the Echo canyon war, while out reconnoitering in the mountains suffering great hardships. He was also one of the relief party sent back to meet a handcart company of emigrants, on which trip he was attacked by inflammatory rheumatism.

In April, 1861, he was ordained a member of the high council of the Salt Lake stake, and in the spring of 1862 he accompanied Delegate Bernhise to the states. After arriving in New York he received a letter from his father. calling him on a mission, and complying with this call he sailed for Europe and arrived at Liverpool July 26, 1862. He labored principally in London, but visited Scandinavia and other parts of Europe, returning home in 1863.

He was ordained an apostle by his father. Brigham Young, on Fact.

1864, but he did not become a member of the twelve apostles quorum until October, 1868, when he was chosen to fill a vacancy caused by the selection of George A. Smith as a counselor in the first presidency.

In 1864 Apostle Young was called on another mission to Great Britain for the purpose of assisting President Daniel H. Wells in the presidency of the European mission. Shortly after dent Wells as president of the European mission. During his stay there he traveled extensively, and in received a request from his father to return to Utah for a visit, and salled for home. After a few months at home Apostle Young returned to England and resumed charge of the mission, but he remained there only a short salling finally for bome his family. For a time he had charge of the offairs of the church in Cache stake. He was there until the reorganization of that stake in 1877. At the general conference in 1872 he was chosen as one of the five couns to Brisham Young and acted in that caracity until his father died.

While visiting Yaqui Indians in Mexico in 1882 be was attacked by vellow fever and was at the point of death. From 1890 to 1893 he was again in charge of the European mission, and since then until his long illness, he has traveled between the various stakes of Zion in the interest of his faith.

Apostle Lyman May be President of Quorum.

It is regarded as probable that Apostle Francis M. Lyman will be chosen president of the querum of the twelve apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Apostle Brigham Young. In this case he will be next in line of succession to the presidency of the church upon the death of President Joseph F. Smith, Apostle Lyman is now in Liverpool, where he is at the head of the European missions. He has been absent about two years. Apostle Francis Marion Lyman, sen of Apostle Amasa M. TOAST CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Resultant Benefits Said to be Immediate and Lasting.

Many families that number dyspeptics among their members are now taking what might be termed the toast cure, toast being substituted for bread at every meal. In many cases the good results have been rapid. A woman of my acquaintance has been steadily improving, with fewer and fewer attacks of indigestion, since her doctor recommended this simple experiment. However, the toast made in the ordinary way, that is soggy within and scorched outside.

will not benefit. The bread must be thoroughly dried out in the oven before toasting then brought to a golden brown. Perhaps more than one dyspeptic sufferer could trace the misery back to soggy bread. Even "second day bread" is not dry enough for a delicate stomach, and contrary to an er roneous idea held by many, toast properly made) does not cause a sluggish state of the system or work any other evil.

Did Not Fenze the Waiter. Henry Ward Beecher was amused when he went into a Bowery rustaurant on one occasion and heard the waiter give such orders to the cook as "Ham and---," "Sinkers and cow," etc. "Watch me feaze that waiter with an order which I believe he won't abbreviate." remarked Beecher at length as the waiter appronched. Then he said: "Give us poached eggs on toast for two, with the yolks broken." But the waiter, who was equal to the emergency, walked to the end of the room and yelled: "Adam and Eve on a raft. Wreck 'em." It is related that Dr. Beecher nearly fainted.
